

Well Management

Offshore drilling is our core business. With over 200 well engineers and wellsite supervisors and a 65-well track record of high-quality results, Acona is equipped to deliver safe, efficient well work for oil company clients.

Acona group offers a full design-and-drill service for oil and gas wells. This capability is built on high-quality personnel, hands-on experience and proven management systems.

Acona rig teams work in “bolt-on” mode under the client corporate identity, integrating seamlessly with client management systems.

Since 2008 Acona rig teams have delivered over 65 NCS drilling and intervention projects on a full well management basis.

Our experience spans all of the NCS from the Barents Sea to Southern North Sea for clients ranging from small independent operators to major international oil and gas companies.

TRUSTED PARTNER

We represent our clients with the highest standards of professionalism, using field-proven management systems and unique team training to ensure consistent delivery of high-quality outcomes.

Our teams have the experience and resources to manage all phases of well work from planning and regulatory interface through contracts and procurement to offshore operations, reporting and recap.
